

Food and Catering Policy Statement

Queensway Navigation Co. Ltd recognizes its responsibility to carry out its catering activities in an environmentally and socially responsible manner in line with company's Quality, Health and Safety and Environmental policy.

The company is fully committed to ensure that ships have a supply of sufficient food of good quality, drinking water and catering arrangements that secure health and well-being of crew living on board, taking into account also their differing cultural & religious backgrounds.

We recognize that it is our responsibility to encourage our suppliers to minimize negative environmental and social effects associated with the products and services they provide as well as to conduct purchasing audits to identify good practices and areas of improvements.

Recognizing our responsibility as a managing company, galley staff will be trained in food sustainability. As a minimum target, cooks will be aware of the various certification systems and their relevance for food production and food products that we use.

Specifically, we aim to:

- Ensure that food and drinking water supplies, having regard to the number of crew on board, shall be suitable to their religious requirements & cultural practices as they pertain to food
- Provide adequate, varied and nutritious meals prepared and served in hygienic conditions.
- Recruit competent and qualified ship's cooks
- Being an organization which is deeply committed to the environment.

The company will communicate its catering policy to all concerned in the development and implementation of this statement through advice and training & focused together with our suppliers on offering a wide choice of quality products including healthy and certified alternatives.
